Enthusiastic Meeting

Sidney Amateur Athletic Association Held Regular Meeting Last Monday Evening.

The outlook for lacrosse in Sidney this year is brighter than it has been for some years as a result of many players having returned from overseas.

The meeting held by the Sidney A. A. Association last Monday evening was a very enthusiastic one, and the large number present augurs well for the coming season.

Mr. Geo. McMullen found it impossible to continue in office as president of the association, and Mr. L. Shore was unanimously elected to that office. A very hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mr. McMullen for his valuable services in the past. His resignation was received with many expressions of regret by those present.

Among other business transacted it was decided to hold a dance on March 17 in order to secure funds for the association to procure much necessary equipment for the members taking part in the various games to be staged during the coming season. All active members of the association will be registered in conformity with the rules and regulations.

The members of the association are getting right down to business early this year, and it is probable that practice games will commence next Saturday afternoon in the field which the aeroplanes use when they visit Sidney. Members of the association will inspect the ground during the week to ascertain whether or not they are suitable.

There being considerable material in sight at present the chances are that a juvenile lacrosse team will be formed this year.

A committee was appointed to secure gloves, sticks, etc., for the club at an early date in order that work may start in earnest as soon as possible.

Taking everything into consideration the members are quite pleased with the present outlook, and they are determined that the Sidney lacrosse club will rank among the best in the league at the end of the season.

Farewell Party February 28

A Very Pleasant Evening Spent at the Methodist Parsonage Last Saturday.

As a farewell party to Mr. and Mrs. A. G. McKeown, who left for their new home near Alberni last Monday morning, a very pleasant time was spent at the Methodist parsonage last Saturday evening. When Rev. Mr. Stephenson and Mrs. Stephenson entertained a number of friends, among them being Mr. and Mrs. A. G. McKeown, their daughter, Miss McKeown, and son, Mr. B. McKeown. During the evening Mr. A. G. McKeown, Miss McKeown and Mr. B. McKeown delighted those present with musical selections. Mr. A. G. McKeown is an accomplished pianist, while Miss McKeown and her brother are violinists of marked ability. At the conclusion of the musical portion of the evening's pleasure, the hostess served dainty refreshments which were much enjoyed. Miss McKeown returned to Victoria on the 11:30 p.m. stage. All present expressed their deep regret at the departure of Mr. and Mrs. McKeown and family from Sidney. They will be very much missed in the Methodist Church where they so willingly assisted, especially on Sunday, Feb. 15, when Mrs. Stephenson received the sad news of her brother's death. All extended to Mr. and Mrs. McKeown and family their best wishes for their health and happiness in their new home.

Will the paper boy from whom we buy newspapers become a thing of the past? The mechanical newsboy is already in use in the United States. A coin is put in the slot, a handle turned, and the newspaper is delivered.

MISSIONARY ANNIVERSARY.

The Missionary Anniversary in the Methodist Churches last Sunday were of a very helpful nature. The morning service was well attended and the evening service attracted practically a full church. Mr. W. Ritchie's illustrated sermon was timely and practical, showing views in the history of the chosen people of God from the departure of Jacob from his home until the crossing of the Jordan into the Promised Land. Mr. Parker delighted the congregation with three solos, singing the "Ninety and Nine" with pictures thrown on the screen to illustrate the Shepherd seeking for the lost sheep. Mr. A. G. McKeown ably officiated at the organ, and his son Bernard gave a delightful violin solo. Mr. Bryant's usual ability was shown in the efficient manner in which he operated the lantern.

DRAMATIC CLUB.

The regular monthly meeting of the Sidney Dramatic Club was held last Monday evening in the Berquist Theatre. The club is making preparations to stage "The Old Maid's Convention," a comedy which will be thoroughly enjoyed by all who witness it. No definite date has been arranged, but it is expected the comedy will be presented within the next six weeks.

LIVESTOCK NOTES.

Livestock on farms can be most profitably increased through an expansion of Canadian meat export trade. An improvement in the quality of the live animal will be necessary if Canada is to get into a foremost place in the big European markets that are ready for our national products.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture and all concerned have started a campaign to sweep out the scrub bull from the herds. Only by producing the best meat can livestock farming get highest prices.

In the Maritime Provinces where livestock is not sufficient in number to support modern abattoirs and cold storage, farmers who do raise cattle and hogs have to pay long freight hauls or suffer the waste of old-fashioned butchering, resulting in lower prices than where these facilities exist.

Exports are the best means of paying Canada's war bill, according to the Minister of Finance. There could be a large increase in the exports of Eastern Canada were the livestock on farms of better quality. Wide awake farmers will know where their future money lies.

The farmer in Ontario is rapidly being convinced that his interests are identical with those of the packer who is the manufacturer of meat from from what he grows and who is also the largest buyer, year in and year out, of the products of his farm.

Canada exports today sixteen times more bacon than before the war. With equal skill the same results could in a few years be shown for other products of Canadian livestock.

The number of automatic ticket machines in use on the London Underground Railways is over 130. During the last twelve months 42,000,000 tickets were issued from them.

Capt. G. H. Barry, of Deep Cove District, Has Fine Stock of White Leghorns

Capt. G. H. Barry, whose advertisement appears on another page in this issue, has the distinction of being the first British Columbia member of the Scientific Breeders' Association, and with the special knowledge he has of the breeding and care of poultry will at all times have on hand the very best of the class of birds which he has chosen to handle.

In addition to poultry, Capt. Barry has decided to deal in bees, and as there is a splendid opportunity in this line there is no doubt that the venture will prove most successful.

Capt. Barry is well known in Sidney and district. He is a returned man, having served for several years in France during the Great War.

A DAY'S OUTING.

Quite a party of Sidneyites boarded the launch of Mr. Geo. Brethour's last Sunday morning and enjoyed a day's outing around the small islands near Sidney. When lunch time arrived the party landed at Shell Island and enjoyed the good things provided by the ladies of the party. Those comprising the party were Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Brethour, Miss Johnston, Miss Blissett, Miss M. Simister and Miss Patty Simister, Messrs. J. B. Macdonald, Capt. Beddome and L. D. McClinton, F. T. F. A. The party returned home about 6:30 p.m., bringing beautiful bouquets of willow and wild currant bushes, which demonstrates the early arrival of spring this year.

CANADA'S PLACE IN THE EMPIRE.

Canada is the foremost of the family of the British Empire, and, being nearest, the great responsibility rests upon her, not alone to aid and succor in battle, but to lead the van in all forms of industrial life; to seize every opportunity to forward the grandeur and stability both of herself and of the Empire.

Fire Losses For Last Year

Main Portion of Total is in Larger Losses of $10,000 or Over; Carelessness and Neglect.

Fire losses in 1919—$23,500,000. With the war over, with no munition plant fires, with industry under normal conditions, and with many interests advocating fire prevention, Canada, in 1919, reached the above enormous total of fire waste—a waste equal to $2.90 per capita of her population.

Of the larger losses, there were 288 of $10,000 and over. These larger losses are mostly of business properties or manufacturing plants. They make up the greater portion of the total loss, and the effect of this loss is widespread. With the destruction of the factory, employment is discontinued and the workman suffers; business is interfered with and the employer suffers. The keen competition of today very often absorbs the market for a product before a business can be re-established, and the owners, realizing this condition, decide not to rebuild.

Many of the smaller municipalities have, as their chief support, one large industry. If fire should destroy this industry the community must almost cease to exist, or, alternatively, secure another, often by burdening itself to pay a bonus.

Employers and workmen are almost universally responsible for fires in factories. Through carelessness or negligence they allow condition to exist which sooner or later create fire dangers. This carelessness is the result, largely, of home training. The greater number of our fires are in the homes, where little care is taken with matches, ashes, lighted cigarettes, and cigars, etc. The careless man at home is careless at work and this carelessness is the root of our fire loss problem.

To reduce our fire waste radical measures are necessary. Legislation or rules are of no avail unless enforced. Personal care and responsibility by both employer and employee are essential. —John Dixon, in Conservation.

Sidney Young Lady Married

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold necklace and pendant, to the bridesmaid, a handbag, and to the best man, a handbag, and to the bridegroom, a handbag.

Mr. and Mrs. Cole left for a honeymoon trip to Vancouver and Whistler, and will later take up their residence at Shanawan, Man.

The happy couple carry with them the best wishes of their many friends for a long and happy married life.

The Island's Coal Output

Made a Gross Output of About 1,690,724 Tons; More Than in 1918

The Vancouver Island collieries made a gross output of about 1,690,724 tons of coal, or 24,513 tons more than in 1918.

Canadian Western Fuel Co.—This company mined the past year about 641,171 tons of coal, a decrease from the previous year of 90,751 tons.

The Nanaimo Colliery, in the city of Nanaimo, is entered by No. 1 or Esplanade shaft, which is connected by underground workings with a shaft on Protection Island and also on Newcastle Island. The workings are at a depth of from 600 to 1,200 feet, and are very extensive, including a large submarine area. On the north side both the Douglas and Newcastle seams are operated; on the south side only the Douglas or upper seam is worked. This property has been in operation since 1881 and is still the largest producing coal mine in the province.

The Reserve Colliery is situated about five miles from Nanaimo; the Douglas seam is reached through two shafts 950 feet in depth. This property became a producer in 1914 development has been retarded owing to faulted and much-disturbed condition of the seam.

The Harewood mine, which has been closed down for a number of years, was re-opened during 1917, and at the present time is producing about 1,000 tons daily.

The Wakesiah shafts, which were sunk during 1918 on the Five-Acre Lots, are now producing 200 tons daily.

Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd.—This company operates two collieries—Comox Colliery, situated at Cumberland, seventy miles north of Nanaimo, and Wellington-Extension Colliery at Extension, six miles southwest of Nanaimo.

The mines of the Comox Colliery are situated around Cumberland and are connected by a standard-gauge railway with the seaboard at Union Bay, where are situated the loading piers, a coal-washery, and a battery of 200 coke-ovens.

The mines operated during the year were Nos. 4 and 7 slopes and No. 5 shaft. No. 6 shaft, however, has not been producing coal during the year.

The estimated gross output of coal for this colliery during the year is 549,513 tons (2,240 lb.), an increase of 11,147 tons over 1918.

The mines of the Wellington-Extension Colliery are situated around Extension, and are connected by a standard-gauge railway with tide-water, and the Esquimalt and Nanaimo railway at Ladysmith, where coal washery, bunkers and loading piers are situated.

Three mines were operated during the year, Nos. 1, 2 and 3, entered by a tunnel 5,000 feet in length. The output for the year was about 224,498 tons, practically the same as produced in 1918.

The new slope known as No. 5 mine is being developed at South Wellington, from which the output for the year was about 86,118 tons, an increase of 57,331 tons over 1918.

Pacific Coast Coal Mines, Ltd.—This company operated the Morden mine throughout the year; the mine is situated about six miles south of Nanaimo and produced about 64,147 tons during 1919, a decrease of 18,482 tons from 1918 production.

The Squash Colliery, situated on the northeastern coast of Vancouver Island and owned by this company, was not in operation during the year.

British Columbia Coal Mining Co.—The output for the past year was about 36,739 tons, an increase of 22,671 tons over 1918 production.

Nanose Collieries, Ltd.—This colliery is situated at Nanose Bay, about ten miles north of Nanaimo, and is operating in the Old Wellington seam. The output for this colliery during the past year was 20,803 tons, a decrease of 8,001 tons from the previous year.

Granby Colliery No. 1.—The new colliery of the Granby Company at Cassidy Siding produced about 67,735 tons of coal during the year, an increase of 50,777 tons over 1918 production.

HOMELY HINTS.

Oddments of nutmeg, tied in a small piece of muslin, can be used to give a nice flavor to soups or stews. Remove before serving.

Boiling water will remove tea stains and many fruit stains. Pour the water through the stain and thus prevent it from spreading over the fabric.

Milk that is turned may be rendered fit for use by stirring in a little baking soda.

Thoroughly warm the knife board, and a brilliant polish will be quickly obtained.

Suet puddings cannot be overcooked. The longer they are steamed or boiled the easier they will be to digest.

To ensure a good gloss on starched collars, first mix the starch with cold water, add a tiny lump of butter, and then pour on the boiling water.

When beating whites of eggs see that the beater is dry and clean. Add a pinch of salt to the whites; this makes them froth up very quickly.

If suet is melted in the oven and put into jars it will keep any length of time. It is much easier to chop if treated this way. Puddings will keep better if made with suet that has been melted.

Unightly carpet stains may be removed by an application of Fuller's earth made into a paste with cold water to which a few drops of ammonia have been added. Rub the paste well into the marks and leave to dry, when it can be brushed off.

One home in every two in the rural districts of Ontario has a telephone, and about one farm out of every four has a motor car.

Dairymen's Difficulties

High Prices of Feed and Labor Create a Difficult Situation in Canada.

Co-operation has been the chief factor in the success that has been attained by the Canadian dairy industry. It was not until the development of co-operative cheese factories and creameries within the past thirty years that the markets for Canadian butter and cheese had more than a local importance. But for twenty years at least, Canadian cheddar cheese has held a premier place on the British market, the most important and exacting in the world. Canadian dairy butter has never been held in high repute by the export trade, and a distinct prejudice had to be overcome by the creameries. Consequently, butter has not attained the status of cheese in the markets of Great Britain, where both Danish and Irish butter normally command slightly higher prices.

In 1917, there were 3,418 factories in Canada producing cheese, butter, and condensed milk. These factories handled nearly 3,000,000,000 pounds of milk in that year. The value of the products marketed was more than $41,000,000. Ontario and Quebec, combined, produced 97 per cent of the factory-made cheese and nearly 74 per cent of the creamery butter. But the western provinces are steadily increasing their output, especially of butter. As the need for restoring the fertility of the soil of the prairies becomes more urgent, dairying is certain to develop rapidly, for no other branch of farming is so useful for maintaining the productivity of the soil. The exceptionally high prices of feed and labor during the recent war years have given a temporary setback to the industry. The labor problem is, perhaps, especially difficult, for dairy farming demands skilled labor throughout the year. Even with the assistance of milking machines, cream separators, testers and other modern equipment the human element still remains the crucial factor, if the industry is to be successful. The Dominion and Provincial Departments of Agriculture, the Agricultural Colleges and the leading dairymen of the country have been occupied with the solution of these problems. They are also taking active means to banish scrub stock and to find better methods for utilizing such by-products as skim-milk and whey. Under such leadership the solution of these and kindred problems may well be hoped for and Canadian dairying will continue to be one of our greatest national industries.—A. Donnell, in Conservation.

Employment Reports

A Decrease in Placements as Compared With the Preceding Week.

The Employment Service of the Department of Labor reports that returns from the Dominion and Provincial offices of the Employment Service of Canada for the week ended Jan. 31, show a decrease in placements as compared with the preceding week. During the week the 94 offices reported that they had referred 6,124 persons to regular positions and that 5,204 of these were placed. This represents a decrease of 246 placements as compared with the previous week, when 5,450 persons were placed. This decline is largely a reflection of the adverse weather conditions reported in the Maritime and Western provinces. In addition, 1,029 casual jobs were supplied as compared with 1,423 during the week ending January 24. The placements for the week were distributed as follows:

Prince Edward Island	3
Nova Scotia	70
New Brunswick	154
Quebec	709
Ontario	1,934
Manitoba	568
Saskatchewan	331
Alberta	553
British Columbia	882

During the week 9,363 applicants were registered, of whom 673 were women and 8,690 were men. This represents a decrease of 1,500 in registration when compared with 10,863 applicants of the previous week.

The number of vacancies notified by employers totalled 6,125 of which 1,007 were for women and 5,118 for men. This shows a decrease of 187 vacancies when compared with the 6,312 notified during the preceding week. The number of applicants placed at the end of the week totalled 27,664, while the number of vacancies remaining unfilled was 10,052. This compares with 27,983 unplaced applicants and 10,201 unfilled vacancies at the end of the week of January 24. Of the placements in regular employment 411 were women and 4,793 were men. The number of returned men reported as placed was 2,566.

Of the placements in regular employment 3 were reported by Prince Edward Island offices, all within the province, as compared with 11 the previous week; 70 by Nova Scotia offices, all within the province, a compared with 104 the preceding week; 154 by New Brunswick offices, all within the province, a compared with 202 the previous week. Quebec offices reported 70 placements, of which 572 were within the province and 137 in other provinces, as compared with a total of 768 the previous week. Placements reported by the Ontario offices totalled 1,934, of which 1,916 were within the province and 18 in other provinces. This compares with total of 1,933 placements made during the preceding week. Placements were reported by the prairie provinces as follows: 568 by Manitoba offices, 459 within the province and 109 in other provinces, as compared with a total of 629 the previous week; 331 by Saskatchewan offices, 301 within the province, and 30 in other provinces, as compared with a total of 387 the preceding week; 553 by Alberta offices, 517 within the province and 36 in other provinces, as compared with a total of 467 the previous week. Placements reported by the British Columbia offices totalled 882 all within the province, as compared with a total of 959 during the week ended January 24.

Are Post-Mortem Students Being Hoodooed? And By Whom?

Since the public mind is "agoy" with inquiry relative to the "why" and "whence" of certain strange phenomena now spreading itself in the name of Science, Education and Religion, we need not apologize for the following statement.

Indeed since the periodical press has given credence to the subject, it seems all the more imperative that the people be informed truthfully as to the source of all this invisible influence.

The metropolitan papers are all running contests as to the most extraordinary experiences along the lines of communications from the great beyond. Many of our letters have been published by the large dailies, some of the editors even clipping the item and mailing it first-class to us as a hint possibly of further explanation and data. One letter appearing in the Chicago Examiner brought us a flood of inquiries from all the walks of life, including police chiefs, business men, professionals, stenographers, girls in office and factory, etc.

The editor of "Les" said he could not disagree with our position, but was duty-bound to give his readers the subject as current information, and let them decide the matter for themselves.

In Britain, accounts are coming where the elite of society are granted their whims insofar that a real salt fish dripping from the ocean was deposited on a platter before the astonished guests. Materialization has been vouched for by disbelievers where a man's wife appeared and at the husband's instance the child likewise took shape beside her. Of course the gentleman was not sufficient of a logician to figure how the child could still retain her baby hood in the beyond, having been dead thirteen years.

Alas! how few seem to invoke the Christian oracle for an authoritative answer!

We read in 2 Pet. 2:4 how the antediluvian angels were cast down to "hell." Unfortunately, this was a misreading from the Greek root "tartarus," and merely refers to our earth's atmosphere instead of some far-off inferno.

Here, therefore, is where these minions are now impersonating the dead and working their counterfeit in a premature resurrection.

Hence, instead of "Sir Conan" and "Sir Oliver" holding interviews with their beloved dead, they are fellow shipping demons who personate the voices, mannerisms and familiar peculiarities of habit while living, of the now dead.

Note, for example, the cunning of these arctic artists in reference to the experiences of Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox, whose husband she supposed was hovering about seeking communication with her. The "wicked spirits" told her by slate writings that she would have to concentrate her mind to such a degree as to pierce the millionth astral plane, where her husband abode.

This same procedure was seen when King Saul sought intercourse with Samuel. The facts likewise were adroit guesses by the demons, knowing the Lord's desertion of Saul and his panicky condition. However, the sons of Saul did not all die, as one occurred. Likewise, the battle did not occur for several days after the visit to Endor.

We have some detailed data covering the facts of the Biblical position we are proffering gratis to those afflicted with this virus. It is the only antidote we know of, and is held as a sacred trust to dispense to the grooming creation in behalf of sanity.

Suffice to say in conclusion that much of the lawlessness and unreason of our day can be traced to these spiritual bandits now deluging human thoughts direct from the King of Anarchy himself—Satanus.

Let us snuff this razzle-dazzle with a pebble from the book of all Truth—Holy Writ.

Very respectfully,
JOSEPH GREIG, Educator,
Mapleton, Iowa

Why is Canadian Live Stock Stagnant is a Question of Much Importance

The story of Canadian live stock for the past twelve years is not merely informative. It gives one a jolt and makes a demand on the intelligent attention of everyone concerned about our national prosperity. Canadian farms, in several provinces, have not been able to keep up in their live stock with the recorded progress of other industries. Yet permanent agriculture depends, as farmers more and more recognize, especially in the older provinces, on live stock. With a growing population within the Dominion the home market is sure of expansion, while prospects for an export trade in meat on a huge scale to Great Britain were never equal to those which the next few years undeniably offer. Is it economically sound to neglect one of the country's finest resources? The "rise and fall" in the returns of farm animals since 1908 tells the tale of what is happening in agriculture.

Classing the number of hogs in that year, for instance, as 100 and regarding this as an imaginary base-line, it will be found that the totals have been below the line or close to it for the greater part of the time. In 1910 the line dropped to 81 but in 1918 the number was up again and reached its peak at 127. Last year there was a drop to 119 and today the level is probably below that of 1908.

Only in one province, Alberta, has the number consistently remained above the base-line. The provincial rise was rapid. In 1917 it reached the peak at 519. Last year it again dropped to 385, while it is feared that today the line would be not much above 200.

Saskatchewan, while up to 406 in 1917, dropped back in 1919 to 306, and is far below that now. Twice in the twelve years, even in the forward-moving west, have the provincial totals been below the base-line.

Manitoba's highest record was 147 in 1918. For eight years the totals were below the base-line.

Ontario has, without exception, year by year been below the base-line and last year touched 87 only, which was the highest record since 1911.

Quebec for eight years was below the base-line but once rose to 132 and last year stood at 124—a figure at which it probably stands today.

New Brunswick only exceeded the base line level last year when its total number of hogs would be represented by 107.

Nova Scotia equals Ontario's records in not once rising to the level of 1908. Last year was the nearest when the equivalent was 94.

Prince Edward Island has been practically on the base-line all through and reached its peak in 1911.

The tale of cattle (other than milch cows) is equally interesting and instructive. Again taking 1908 figures as a base-line nominally of 100 it would be found that until 1917 the yearly totals either dropped far below or were just on the line. In 1918 the number for the whole Dominion rose to 140 and was stationary there in 1919. It is probably down somewhat from that level now.

The provinces show some steadiness in the yearly numbers, with one exception. Saskatchewan stood out from the other provinces as showing a very steep rise year by year until last year it reached its high-st point at 265.

Ontario, on the other hand, is the one province which never once in twelve years rose above the level of 1908. In 1919 its total would be represented by 93.

The present standing so far as cattle are concerned of the other provinces would be represented by the following figures: British Columbia, 184; Alberta, 133; Manitoba, 154; Quebec, 181; New Brunswick, 172; Nova Scotia, 127, and Prince Edward Island, 131.

From 1908 to 1917 there was an almost unbroken decline in the number of sheep kept on Canadian farms. In 1918 and 1919 there were slight increases.

Decreases were recorded in most of the eastern provinces, and only slight increases in Saskatchewan and British Columbia. In Quebec, Manitoba and Alberta there were increases, particularly in the last-named. Three provinces are today still below their totals for 1908, Ontario, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, while Prince Edward Island is practically stationary.

For the whole Dominion the totals rose in 1918 to 147 and mounted in 1919 to 120. Later returns seem to point to fairly heavy mark- etings during the last year, with a probable approximation in 1920 to the base-line of twelve years ago.

THE PROFESSOR'S WAY.

Here is a reason why newspaper men need homes to care for the incapacitated, and also a demonstration of the well-known fact that almost every person in the world thinks he can write for the newspapers.

The appended "writeup" was submitted to a Chicago newspaper by a professor of Northwestern University at Evanston:

"The conflagration resulted when an ignited cinder was wafted upward through the chimney, setting fire to one of the cedar shingles which covered my roof. The fire department deserves great credit for the intelligent manner of its maneuvering.

Piece by piece the furnishings of the home were removed by generous neighbors, who considerately invited my family and myself to dinner.

"It would, indeed, be difficult to estimate with exactness the damage of the fire ravages, but the loss might at a conservative estimate be placed at $3,500. The majority of the material consumed is susceptible of replacement.

The maid's wearing apparel was consumed in the conflagration, but it was costing which can be replenished. Some of my valuable manuscripts, however, have been destroyed and these cannot be duplicated.

"Wood ignites too readily. Hereafter I shall have patented shingles on the roof of my domicile."

It seems that the professor had a fire at his house.

KEEP OFF THE LOGS.

RUNNING on the logs in the water at the Sidney Mills is a very exciting pastime, but sooner or later, if the practice is continued, there will be an accident, which will bring deep sadness to some home.
Almost daily boys are seen at this dangerous practice, and it is to them that this warning is given. If one of the lads slipped down between the long he would be drowned before help could reach him, because the logs would close up again and it would be difficult to locate the exact place where he disappeared. The fact that the boy knows how to swim would not help him in the least, because, being under the logs he would not know which way to swim, even if he had presence of mind enough to think of it. Although every precaution is taken and the boys ordered off the logs when caught, there, they elude the watchful eye of the men in charge,
and are out of his reach before he sees them.

Parents, keep your boys off the logs. It will save the mill authorities considerable worry and it will be better for everyone in the end.

ABOUT SUGAR.

THE sugar situation continues to absorb public interest, and a great deal is being written and spoken about it, much of which is nonsense. It is surprising what foolishness can be uttered and written, even by those who ought to know better, or at least should take the trouble to find out.

The main features that should be generally known are that the refiner sells to the wholesale on a 5 per cent. commission basis, the retailer sells at a very small profit; keen competition alone keeping the price down.
Recently the refiners made application to the Board of Commerce for an increased price, which doubtless would have been granted, but instead the Board raised the control. This has the appearance of smart practice, as undoubtedly the request would have been granted, and it is surprising to find one of our Victoria contemporaries suggesting because the control was off the public would have to pay more.

Investigations and commissions will not secure more nor reduce the price of sugar, however many are held.
The fact is that in this part of the world we have had more sugar and at a less price than many others.

There is one feature which has not received much public notice which, if it could be altered, might alleviate the situation. We refer to the fact that the B. C.
Refineries enjoy what amounts to a monopoly in B. C.
No wholesaler being allowed to sell other sugar. But to find a practical remedy would be difficult.

THE COMMUNITY HALL.

DOES Sidney and district want a Community Hall
This is a question which must be answered ver-emphatically in the affirmative before any further steps are taken with a view to erecting such a building. There is no question about the benefits to be derived from such an edifice, but are the people of North Saanich prepared to finance such a proposition?

Several months ago it was estimated that a building could be erected for $6,000, and a much more commodious one for $12,000. These figures will be found to be much below the right cost today, as the price of material and labor is increasing almost daily. A cost of $8,000 and $16,000 would be a conservative estimate at the present time, and the longer the erection of the building is delayed the higher the price will be, for the next few years at least.

The financial aspect of the proposed Community Hall was one of the knotty problems left undecided at the conclusion of the mass meeting held on Feb. 25. If the building is erected by selling shares at $25 each, the whole scheme of a "Community Hall" falls to the ground, as the building would be owned by the shareholders, and the balance of the community would have nothing whatever to say as to its management.

The idea of the district owning the War Memorial Park and shareholders owning the building would not be conducive to harmony in the future. They must both be owned by the community as a whole if the enterprise is to be completely successful. The only way in which the idea can be carried out is to erect the Community Hall by popular subscription or sell the shares at such a low figure that everyone in the district can afford to buy one or two. If the shares were sold at $10 it would mean that everyone in the district would have to purchase one share to realize sufficient money to erect the building described in Plan "A" of the circular letter sent out, and that each individual in the district would have to buy two shares if the more commodious building was decided upon. Viewing the question in the light of sentiments expressed at the recent mass meeting the probability of raising this amount of money in this manner is problematical. If it is found impossible to raise the money by popular subscription, then the way is open for some company to erect one. It will then become a purely business proposition with them. If they think it would pay to erect such a building there is no doubt a number of citizens could be found who would be willing to finance it. But the building, if erected by a company, should not be built upon the War Memorial Park grounds. Those grounds belong to Sidney and district.

The Review takes the stand that unless both the grounds and the building are owned by the community the scheme will be a failure because the idea of the "community spirit" will be lacking. We are willing to donate our share of the money for this purpose, or we are willing to buy shares in a company to the extent of our power. How many more will do likewise?

FIX UP THE GROUNDS.

AT the mass meeting held on Feb. 25, the Trustees were instructed to go ahead and put the War Memorial Park grounds in condition for sports. It was suggested at the meeting that a high board fence be erected at front and back, and a wire fence along both sides. The only right way to fence the War Memorial Park is to put a high board fence around the whole property.

In order to charge an admission, there must be something taking place which cannot be seen from the outside. If the two sides are to be left open, it would be just as well not to go to the expense of erecting a fence, as anyone could sit or stand on the vacant land on both sides and witness the sports without paying an admission fee.

While the Trustees are about it, would it not be a good scheme to erect a grand stand, with wire netting across the front? This will be a revenue-producer of a first-class character, and the cost would be more than made up by the increased revenue. With the property fully fenced, a grand stand, the land put in good condition for sports, the celebrations during the coming summer will more than meet the expense.

During the celebrations last year it was reported that a large number of people came up from the beach and never paid a cent to get into the grounds, which was a serious loss of revenue. This could not have happened if the whole property had been fenced in.

Let us profit by past experience and fix up the War Memorial Park grounds in the right way while we are about it.

The Heart of a Boy

From among his blocks on the nursery floor
He lifted his eyes to me,
His eyes that are full of the freshness of life
And the wisdom of half-past three.

And he said, "I will build you a really house,
Wis windows and doors and things,
And a train and a boat 'at will really go,
And a flying machine wis wings.

"And anything else that you want, Muzzle, dear,
Just tell me; I'll make it, you know—
A big water tower or an automobile,
And a sewing-machine 'at will sew."

And all through the day he talked and talked
Of the wonderful things he could do,
Till he fancied himself a big, strong man,
With all of his dreams come true.

From the depths of the chair by the nursery fire
He lifted his eyes to me,
His eyes that are full of the wonder of life
And the sadness of half-past three.

And he said, "You know, Muzzle, I can't build a house
Wis windows and doors and things
And I can't make a train and a boat 'at will go
And a flying machine wis wings.

"Nor anything else that you want, Muzzle, dear."
And he cuddled his oldest toy,
"And I'm not a big man who can work and build,
I am only a little boy."

Oh, dear little Muzzle, the years fly fast,
And dry after day you must grow,
But "Muzzle" would rather her own little boy
Than all the machines that go

And some day, dear, to this busy old world
You will bring much good and much joy,
If you work with the strength of a great big man
And the heart of a little boy

ment than politeness.

MY GARDEN

Since man, according to the most reliable authority, commenced his history on earth in a garden, it is not surprising to find that amongst all ages and in all parts of the world, gardens have an appeal to men and women.

Spring is not only the time for lovers of all kinds, and for poets and poetesses, but it is pre-eminently garden time.

Gardens, whether small or great, can possess a charm and an appeal that cannot be compared with anything else. The world has many famous gardens and garden cities, and we have only to cite the now famous Butchart Gardens at Tod Inlet to prove our contention of the interest gardens can promote, for these lovely gardens are visited by increasing numbers every year. It is common knowledge that tourists tell their friends "Be sure and see the 'Butchart Gardens.'"

But it is not the object of this article to write on gardens, but to endeavor to stimulate interest amongst its readers and the general public in gardens. We would be glad if the Women's Institute, Farmers' Societies, and Board of Trade were to adopt the slogan this year, "Every body a Gardener."

Two very important results would be achieved thereby. On the one hand a very great improvement in the appearance of the districts, and on the other a very practical solution of the high cost of living situation. There is another feature which must not be overlooked—the added health and pleasure to the gardener.

We hope during the next few weeks to give in these columns some practical hints on how and what to grow that may be useful to the beginner.

The lovely weather that has favored this part of our wonderful island during the past few weeks has dried the soil considerably, and except in low-lying or very badly drained situations, a start can be made. The first step to be taken in the preparation of a lot that is to be cultivated and converted into a garden is to collect all the refuse lying around and burn it; clear all the stones off, as far as possible—the room they occupy will grow something useful.

The next step is, if the soil is sufficiently dry and will break easily, turn it over with fork or spade. Be careful to turn all growth face down. Dig systematically, keep an even tilth, break up the large lumps as you go. When you have finished digging your garden, or the part you have selected for your garden (and here we would like to make an appeal to farmers and ranchers: have a garden, grow some garden vegetables and flowers near the farm house; it is worth while). After the digging has been done, it may be wise to wait a few days before the next job is undertaken. In the meantime make a plan of your garden on paper, with an outline of the beds and borders, and we will

Wash Day and Backache

WASH day is the least welcome day of the week in most homes, though sweeping day is not much better. Both days are most trying on the back.

The strain of washing, ironing and sweeping frequently deranges the kidneys. The system is poisoned and backaches, rheumatism, pains in the limbs result.

Kidney action must be aroused, the liver awakened to action and the bowels regulated by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This favorite prescription of the well known Receipt Book author will not fail you in the hour of need.

One pill a dose, 25c a box at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

help you fill them in during the next few weeks.

Next week we shall have something to say about garden tools and the first seeds to plant.

This week's work is dig, and dig deep, but don't bring up the clay subsoil.

TWO SPASMS OF A LOCAL POET.

The following are the result of some hard work on the part of a young Sidneyite, and as they are not entirely devoid of merit we publish them:

There was a young banker named

Who, when asked to sing, wouldn't yield.

He said with a yell:

I'd as soon go to—well,

As have such a bum singer revealed.

There was a young man from Toulon

Whose booze was shut off and then on.

He said with dismay

"It is too much to pay,

Prohibition for mine from now on—"

Immediately after this spasm the young man fell down seven flights of stairs, walked seven miles and back again and then went to bye bye.

SOME NIGHT.

With the noiseless tread typical of the feline, Thomas Cat, at dawn was breaking, crept slowly to the family water bucket, and there surveyed his miserable reflection.

"Good heavens!" he exclaimed.

"One ear gone!"

He looked again.

"And one eye closed!" he gasped.

Yet a third time he looked.

"Thirteen gashes," he counted.

"part of lower jaw missing, and nothing left of whiskers but stumps"

Then he sighed

"My word," he murmured, dreamily, "what a Dickens of a glorious night I must have had!"

Yes, sir, you'll find him in the pig sty; you'll know him—he's got a hat

On Wednesday, Feb. 25, at St. Marks Church, Ganges, the Rev. Mr. Atkins officiating, Miss Marian Lavender and Mr. Joseph Royal (a returned soldier) were married. A number of friends of Mrs. L. Thomson attended a birthday party given by her at her home on Tuesday afternoon in honor of her sister-in-law, Mrs. C. H. Butler. A "floral guessing" contest created a great deal of amusement and after an hour spent in music and social chat the guests partook of very delicious refreshments served by the hostess.

Much Respected Resident of Deep Cove District Died Last Tuesday.

The death of Mr. R. G. Kennedy, I. E., of Deep Cove, last Tuesday came as a great shock to his wide circle of friends in North Saanich, he having lived in the district for about seven years.
